GREATEST CAVALRY CHARGE.

Senator Daniel has written me that I was mistaken in speaking recently in this correspondence of the battle of Brandy Station as the great cavairy light of the war. He says in his noie that the engagement at Trovillian's Station, in Louisa county, in 1864, between Hampion and Sheridan, was the severest cavairy fight of the entire war. He says, however, that Brandy Station is frequently spoken of in the manner in which I alluded to it. I am sure nobody will contradict Senator Daniel's statement, certainly no one who knows of his careful study of the great struggle in which he took such a gallant part, will have the temerity to take issue with him. So I shall regard the matter as a res adjudicata.

as a res adjudicata.

I am also in receipt of a letter from a lady born in the South and a writer of historical and other books of note, criticising my speaking of Mr. Lincoln as "the best friend the South had in the North" in a recent mention in The Times-Dispatch of an interview with Representative Hitt, of Illinois. I can only say, in reply, that I have often heard Mr. Lincoln so described by men who followed General Lee in the great struggle to establish the Confederacy.

VIRGINIANS SCARCE,

VIRGINIANS ECARCE.

I looked at the registers in six leading fotels of this city to-day, and found the names of only two persons who halled from Virginia.

"It's a bad season for Virginians to be here." said the clerk at one of the hotels. "All who can get to Washington on a pleasure trip want to come while Congress is in session. A great many have to come then to transact business with their Congressmen. As a result, the city is filled up with Virginians then. I have observed that for two or three months after adjournment there are but few Virginians here, but later along they be gin to come in in pretty good numbers, as if they couldn't wait for Congress to open."

spen."
Representative Rixey, owing to the configuity of his district to the capital, has more callers than any other Contressman from Virginia, though Mr. Jones is a close second.

MOORE FOR CONGRESS.
I heard a man say recently he would not be surprised to know that Mr. R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, would be a sandidate for Congress some day from the Eighth District. I am is a position to know that Mr. Moore has no idea of candidate for Congress some day from the Elighth District. I am in a position to know that Mr. Moore has no idea of running for any office in the near future. He has a tremondous law practice, which yields him a handsome income. He served as a member of the Constitutional Convention at a great sacrifice. It is practically assured that Mr. Rixey will have no opposition, a fact stated in this corespondence more than once, in pontradiction of unauthorized statements made elsewhere. Mr. Rixey spends most of his time down on his Culpeper farm during the vacation of Congress, but Mrs. Rixey remains here with the children, who are at school in this city.

He was convalescent Saturday and wanted to be allowed to go out to the stables to see the pony, which is the most beautiful in Washington, and the emailest, being only about three feet high, and weighing less than 400 pounds. Mrs. Roosevelt would not allow Archie to go outdoors, but Charley, a footman, who looks after the Roosevelt boys, slipped the pony into the White House, took him down the hall to the elevator and hoisted him to Archie's room. The gurprise and joy of the boy when his pony was led in may be easily imagined. This is the first time a pony, has ever been in the White House. W. E. H.

The Farmville liquor dispensary fight has reached the Legislature, and the first nas reached the Legislature, and the first brush was had before the Counties. Cities and Towns Committee of the House yesterday afternoon, which resulted in the reporting lavorably of a bill offered by Mr. Owell, to allow the people of the magisterial district wherein Fermville is located to vote on the questions of maintaining the much-discussed dispensary in that town.

that town.
The bill was vigorously opposed by that town.

The bill was vigorously opposed by Senator Watkins, who desired that if liquor should be sold in Farmville, it should be under the dispensary system. The measure was advocated by Judge William Gordon Robertson, of Boanoke, who represented certain citizens who earnestiy desire the people to pass upon the question, so that when the present court tangle is unravelled it may be done in accordance with the wishes of the citizens of the district. Mr. Owen advocated the measure, Judge Watkins followed, and contended that the people desired the dispensary, and that there was no necessity for the passage of the measure. Judge itopertson followed Judge Watkins in a strong plea for the bill, and when he had concluded the committee decided in executive session to report the measure.

THE DAY ON THE DIAMOND

The Glants Lead Percentage Column of Nat'l League.

DETROIT STILL WINNING

Has Not Lost a Game, and Still Heads the List of the American Teams. Phillies Losing Ground-New York Americans Lose.

The second week of the American League series was begun yesterday, and the third week of the National League pennent battle opened with two game Sunday. In the National League the Pittsburg team lost a game and the lead in the race Sunday, Chicago being reensible for the double disaster. Pirates retrieved themselves yesterday by smothering St. Louis, but as New York put it all over Boston at the same time the Giants now lead the penan ward pageant. Chicago's victory and another yesterday put that team in the running and landed them in third Boston's defeat by New York perth. Bosion's deteat by Now York pushed the Hubbites down a peg and Brooklyn's defeat of the Phillies landed them on a par with Bosion and the Browns, with a percentage of 500. Chicanati has not yet gotten into form, and lost easily to Chicago. The Reds are at the bottom of the heap with but a triffe more than ton per cent. of games wen.

trifie more than ton per cent. of games won.

In the American League St. Louis cracked the shell and emerged from its goose-seg in the percentage column by defeating the crawhile champions, the White Sox. The exertion was so great, however, that the Browns took a day off yesterday. Detroit keeps up its marvelous winning streak, and yosterday sent Comiskey's men down a buttoniole lower. The Athletics knocked the shine out of the New York constellation, and collpsed them in the darkness of a shuttout, thus relegating Griffith's band to the second division, while the Qualcus sild into second place. Washington, too, keeps up its winning, Boston being its victim yesterday, thus landing Loftus senatorial squad in third rank. Boston leads the second division. St. Louis and Cleveland did not lose, but it may be added that they did not play. Apparently, the weaker clubs are getting off in the start, and if they can maintain anything like their present pace they will make the season decidedly interesting for the rest. Cleveland cannot long remain at the bottom of the heep, if the estimate of the experts is worth anything.
